NEWS ITEM--NEW YORK TIMES--APRIL 1, 1968

The first two men ever to ride the new 1968 Union Pacific Super-sonic Rocket were Joseph Buckley and Ruben Quintana, both from Cokeville, Wyoming. The Times learned from these two portly gentlemen that they were on their way to Cokeville to learn the whereabouts of the 1948 graduation class. They expected to make the trip in about thirty minutes.

NEWS ITEM--COKEVILLE REGISTER--APRIL 1, 1968

Joe Buckley and Ruben Quintana arrived here today to check the 1948 class. Buckley, of course, finally proved that black cattle and quarter horses can be raised in New York. He says that he is now having a little trouble raising a few problems of his own--with that brunette from Bear Lake. Quintana is now coaching the football team at the University of Michigan. (Advisor's note: No, No, spare Michigan that fate!)

THEY FOUND THAT--

ELNA and BOBBY BRUCE are co-owners of the Nelson Store. They have two children--twins!

TOM MACKEY has just received his diploma from Arthur Murray's Dancing School. His jitterbugging has finally paid off.

MAUREEN WILDE is now modeling for John Robert Powers. You should see the latest sunsuit out--with Maureen in it--um-um-um!

JOE KERSHISNIK is now leading Spiltany's All Girl Orchestra. He would, the old Wolf!

LYNN HUNSAKER is now foreman of the Union Pacific Gandy Dancers in Cokeville.

JOYCE WHITNEY married the Afton Basketball Coach and is now teaching her little ones to be coaches.

DONALD LARSON is in the dairying business at Smithfork. He is a bachelor, but is reported to be weakening.

BOB DAYTON is playing with the House of David Basketball Team. His long shots finally paid off. He's letting his whiskers grow, too.

ALICE HUNSAKER is on the National Broadcasting Program, "First Nighter." She made good use of her acting ability.

EIMA ZUMBRENNEN, of course, married that GOB from Rock Springs. She is now busy making four Sailor uniforms and three Wave suits!

LILLY QUINTANA is a governess at Etcheverry's. She likes children and they like her.

Class History

We nonchalantly flung our knapsacks over our backs and scurried up the foothills with a carefree attitude, harboring no fear for the future. A mass of pebbles, which seemed to us boulders, were strewn along our path in the form of Initiation. We went around these pebbles and thus escaped our initiation. Joe Buckley and Tom Mackey, our guides, led us safely through the first lap of our journey on the way to the top. We here had our "Frolic"

Joe Buckley was chosen as guide for the second span of our great conquest. We soon found a slope of snow, and before resuming our climb we decided we were tired enough to stop for a rest and plan a "Hop". Our class colors of Silver and Blue were royally displayed. We traversed smooth but slanting ground for the rest of the second stretch. We stopped long enough to pick up Kenneth Smith, who soon left us again. Too cold he said!!

Elna Zumbrennen successfully led us over the deep crevices and ravines that made our third lap so hazardous. The first crag was the play entitled, "Wedding Spells." We cautiously approached a ledge, where we remained long enough to plan and put over a very nice Prom. Our theme Moonlight and Roses was beautifully displayed. We began gaining altitude rapidly and crossed a ridge where we camped for the night.

At daybreak we continued our journey with Joe Buckley leading. We picked up Joe Kershnisnik here at this point of our travels. We braced ourselves against a possible slip along the last treacherous stretch of our trek. We paused before ascending the steep slope that led to the top, to muster all our resources and give a play entitled "Cyclone Sally," which was the best play to be on this journey of ours, and also of the ones who had gone before us. We donned our hob-nailed boots and labored toward the "Senior Ruff." Alas!!

Only one obstacle remained---a shoulder of rock jutting out into space, but we edged around it and our hearts pounded with excitement and joy; for just ahead lay our long-sought goal; the summit, which we easily reached and so conquered!!

We, the Class of 1948, will without a thought of regret our cooperative spirit, studious reputation, and various talents to the Junior Class.

- I, Joe Buckley will my cowboy boots to Don Dayton.
- I, Bobby Dayton will my curly hair to John Toomer.
- I, Alice Hunsaker will my acting ability to Betty Buckley.
- I, Lynn Hunsaker will my muscles to Junior Cozzens.
- I, Dewey Kershisnik will my height to Beverly Julian.
- I, Thomas Mackey will my pleasing personality to Glenna Twiss.
- I, Clive Pope will my ability to date girls to Wayne Alley.
- I, Lilly Quintana will my hair to Bonnie Wilde.
- I, Reuben Quintana will my athletic ability to Donald Coziah.
- I, Joyce Whitney will my femininities to Lila Quintana.
- I, Maureen Wilde will my ego to Grace Francis.
- I, Elma Zumbrennen will my ability to get handsome men to Jeanne P.
- I, Elna Zumbrennen will my slimness to Dixie Dawn Tueller.
- I, Donald Larson will my bashfulness to Joy Nuttall.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 18th day of February, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Forty Eight.

The team this season finished conference play in a tie with Pinedale for third place; both teams having won three and lost five. Mt. View finished in first place, Lyman in second place, and Big Piney last.

Competition this year was very much stronger from all teams in the Conference. The Panthers got off to a good start in winning from Kemmerer, Randolph and Superior; but faltered in mid-season and lost games which should have been won. Recovery from this slump was slow, but the team hit its stride again and finished strong against Lyman, Pinedale, Big Piney and Georgetown. It appeared that the boys were ready for the tournament and would be tough to beat. But the FLU laid them low a week previous to tourney play. That siege of illness was fatal to any tourney championship aspirations, as the team lost completely the ability to hit the hoop, and was very ragged on defense.

Cokeville lost to Hanna and Lyman and won from Encampment and Saratoga during the playoffs at Green River. The loss to Lyman gave the boys fourth place in the tournament.
