Must have been fun, huh?

There is always lots of action at CHS, some fun, some play, and some work. The students must have activities to get them away from the everyday routine of attending classes. These activities include sports, music, and parties for special occasions.

Activities Around CHS

Oh, this is fun.

Those are some Christmas presents.

A relaxing few moments away from the kids.

Southern view of new gym right after completion.

The new gym, which was started the first part of April in 1967 and was finished on October 1, 1967, gave the high school a well-equipped place in which to hold athletic events. The new dressing and training rooms are in the basement; and they provide roomy, well-lighted facilities to dress and to prepare for the practices and games. The gym floor is large. The bleachers provide seating for several hundred people. The new classrooms have the latest equipment and are provided with ample facilities for lab work. Some of the classes held in them are Biology, Earth Science, Physiology, General Science, Eighth-Grade Math, and several study halls.

Juniors Have Successful Year

The Junior play, held April fifth, was a great success. The play, GRANDMA-A-GO-GO, was a story of a little, old (but young at heart) lady that felt she was doing a good deed by chasing fire engines and helping put out fires. The story involved the wife of a preacher showing a Bishop around while she tried to hide the fact that her aunt rode fire engines. The play ended with the Bishop riding the fire engine and Aunt Lettie finding out her cousin is a fire-bug.

Capable Administration Guide Students

The administration of Cokeville High School led the students of Cokeville through a very successful year. Yearbook Staff Records Highlights

The yearbook staff tried its best to present to the readers of this book the highlights of the Cokeville High School 1967-1968 story. Peggy Rentfro, with plenty of backing from the staff and excellent advice from Mr. Wagstaff, worked hard to edit this book. Starlene Pope, business manager, took charge of correspondence and handled the business of the staff. The dark room crew, with the help of Mr. Wagstaff, gave a valuable service by taking, developing, and enlarging photographs. The yearbook staff conducted its annual personality poll and presented their sock hop on January 19, 1968.

Highlights of CHS Re-lived

Through Sage Stories

Under the direction of Editor Ward Wagstaff, the SAGE staff worked tirelessly to produce a school paper. Miss Beck, adviser, gave counsel, encouragement and technical assistance to the staff. Their goal this year was to improve the writing of the stories and to put a SAGE out every six-weeks. Through the staff's excellent writing, the students re-lived the many details and highlights of the school year. Since the SAGE staff includes many capable Freshmen and Sophomores, its high standard of achievement should be maintained through the next few years.

The rugged Panthers of '67 had a very successful year, due to determination, to desire, and to excellent coaching.

Allstate

Steven Moore (senior) blocked like a (cat) Panther. Steven received all-state honors as offensive guard. Terry Allen's (sophomore) sticky fingers snatched many forward passes. Terry made all-state end. Randall Thoman (sophomore) hiked the ball like a good Panther should. Randall was all-state center.

The Panthers seemed to have come a long way from previous football seasons. They wanted to win and had the desire to do so. The Panthers are losing some good personnel through graduation but should be able to field a first-rate squad next year. Many congratulations go to the Panthers of '67.

The members of the football team selected two men whom they looked up to represent them for the football season. These guys did a good job of representing the team. The two are both Seniors and will leave C.H.S. this year. This will hurt the coming team, but they will do their best to replace them. They were a big help to the Panther's squad and many thanks to them. They are Steven Moore and Richard Teichert.

All-Conference

Richard Teichert (senior) sticks to his man like his number. He then receives all-conference defensive back. Randall Thoman (sophomore) hikes the ball like we knew he would. Randall was all-conference center. Randy (Speedy) Taylor (junior) out-runs and out-powers the opposing defense. Randy received all-conference offensive back. Steven Moore (senior) bulldozes through the line to smother the opponent. Steve receives all-conference defensive guard. Terry Allen (sophomore) reads and outguesses opposing teams. Terry was honored as defensive end. Larry (Larrel the Lion) Thatcher (junior) masters the scrimmage. Larry was honored as all-conference defensive back. Keith (Lover Boy Leon) Nate (sophomore) shows little affection for the opposing offensive line. Keith was all-conference defensive guard.

The Cokeville Panthers strived hard in their newly finished gymnasium to do many great things, but due to inexperience and young age not much was accomplished. The Panthers basketball team of CHS, through many hard hours of practice, came away from the district tournament with the third place trophy. The Panthers, composed mainly of young inexperienced boys, worked hard to acquire the third place in district. The boys, starting out in a new gym, had very much drive and determination. However, after several close losses, they seemed to go down hill a little. Something gave them a spark, however, as they neared the district tournament and dreamed fond dreams of a trip to the state tournament. Well, they didn't make it this year, but wait until next.

Through snow, rain, and occasional sun, the C.H.S. Track Team came through with flying colors, showing their best skills. This year, C.H.S. had a tremendous number of boys come out for track. There were 18 boys, compared with nine the year before.

Through track meets and regionals, the boys tried their hardest to represent C.H.S. well and were willing to do their best. The enthused boys were coached by Coach Dana and Coach Luthi.

For his outstanding effort, Todd Dayton was awarded Fourth Place in State Track.

Royalty Reign

Garnett Nate highlighted the football season when she was crowned Homecoming queen of '67. The championship team proudly bestowed this honor on Garnett.

Breath taking, was the royalty of the Junior Prom. Randy Taylor, as King, and Eileen Dayton, as queen, gave many memory filled moments to those attending the Prom. The attendants chosen by the Junior class were Peggy Rentfro, Senior; Sharlene Brooks, Junior; Lucy Bird, Sophomore; and Rickie Lee Thoman, Freshman. These girls added the final touch to make the evening complete.

Providing pep and excitement to the sports activities, the Pep Club and cheerleaders cheered through another year of supporting their athletic teams. The Pep Club honored the boys participating in football, wrestling, track, and basketball with an athletic banquet held on the eighth of April. Under the direction of advisers Miss Beck and Mrs. Igo, the Pep Club and Lettermen held their carnival on November 29, 1967.

One of the highlights of their year was Homecoming held on October 20th. The Pep Club worked hard to present outstanding homecoming activities. The activities began with the Alumni program held on October 19th. The team was honored and the queen, Garnett Nate, was crowned at it. Under the direction of Sharlene Brooks, the auditorium was decorated in the school colors, orange and black, in which a dance was held Homecoming night. To the music of the John Larson's Trio, the mood was set for an enjoyable and danceable evening.

Lettermen Take Lead in Sports

Under the responsible supervision of Coach Luthi and Coach Dana, President Steven Moore led the Lettermen's Club in a very successful year. Members of the club consist of those who have earned a letter in sports. Panther Lettermen, who led C.H.S. to athletic heights through their spirt and ability, were valuable to the school not only in sports, but also because they served the best interests of the students in other areas. Their main goal this year was to promote better sportsmanship throughout the school and community.

One of their main highlights of the year was to help sponsor a carnival held on November 29th with the Pep Club. The Lettermen built the booths and helped decorate them. The Pep Club made the eating goodies. The Lettermen helped eat them. All and all the carnival was one of the most successful held thus far.

March Out

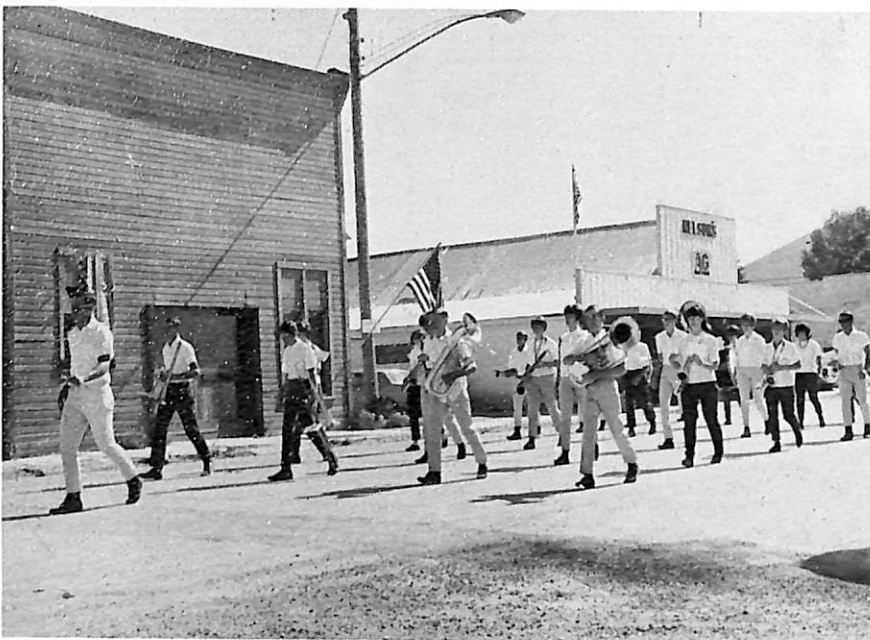

Under the direction of Norene Thompson, the Pantherettes performed during the football and basketball games. Performing many clever routines with costumes to match, the group had a very successful year. This group showed pep, vigor, and enthusiasm in each performance. Much talent and ability were displayed in preparation of the routines by the girls. Each girl had an opportunity to help work up a routine and help perfect it. The officers for this year were Bonnie Bennion, President; Colleen Walton, Vice President; and Janet Johns, Secretary.

Each summer the band marches on July twenty-fourth. It is an event that most of the students participate in. This summer, however, very few turned out; the result was a small marching band. Because of this and the trouble that accompanies gathering up band uniforms, the band marched in Western attire that suited the mood for the day.

Band Develops Musical Abilities

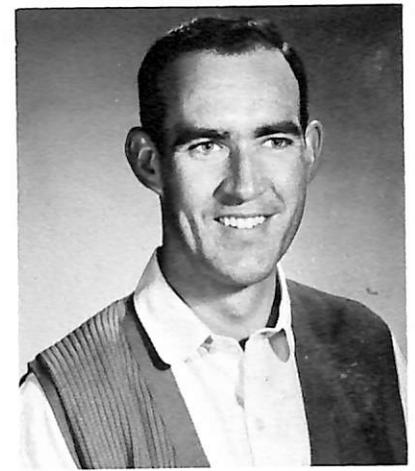

A new addition to the CHS band was the leadership of Mr. Williams. The '67-'68 year was full of varied and interesting activities for the band. One of the first highlights was an excursion to Ogden and participation in the Weber State University Homecoming Activities. More outstanding activities included two clinics at Big Piney and Kemmerer. The band performed at several concerts throughout the year-- Christmas and spring. The most anticipated event of the year was District Music Festival at Kemmerer. Two band solos -Clarinet solo by Peggy Rentfro and french horn solo by Jimmy Wagstaff-and four piano solos were entered. Both the chorus and band performed and received II's.

Chorus Takes Lead in the Field of Fine Arts

The chorus, under the direction of Mr. Williams, worked hard to make a good showing at district music festival. The year's work, hard practice, and the producing of several choral concerts, were all contributors toward making the chorus the best. The students that participated in chorus this year improved their skill in the field of singing.

Music, An Important Study at C.H.S.

Every year the music teachers from the northern division of the southwestern district of the state meet to organize and lay out plans for two inter-school clinics. Every school in the division is represented. The students work hard; and after many hours of blowing and singing, they try to present a good concert to an audience consisting of people that come from miles around to hear it. These interschool clinics last for two days.

The first inter-school clinic was held in Kemmerer. The guest clinician for chorus was Donald F. Ripplinger from Highland High in Salt Lake City and the band clinician was Dr. Max Dalby from Utah State University.

Cokeville High School Chorus led by Mr. Wayne Williams sang several carols on the Christmas program.

The second inter-school clinic was held in Big Piney. The guest clinicians were Donald F. Pihlaja and Al F. Guinn from Rocky Mountain College in Billings, Montana.

Personalities, Characters, and V.I.P.'s

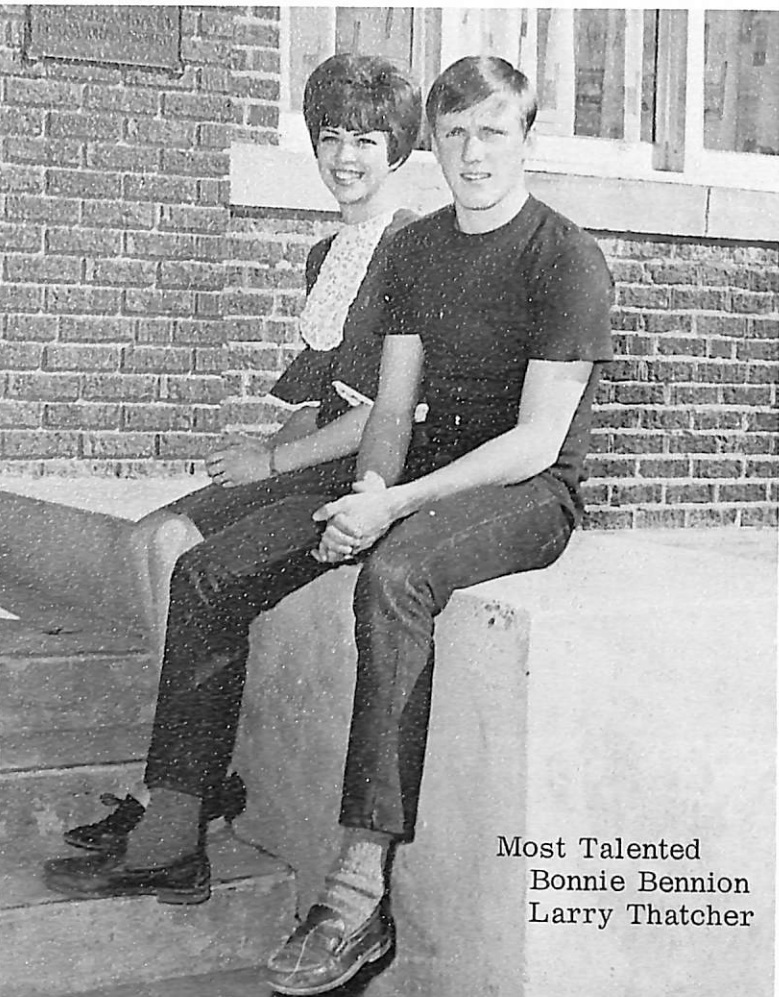

As an annual event the Rambouillet staff held a personality poll of the outstanding students in each of several categories, some of which are honorable and some of which are of doubtful honor, but of high interest.

The high school and the junior high voted, the faculty counted and tabulated the results, and the winners were announced at the annual yearbook sock hop on January 19, 1968.

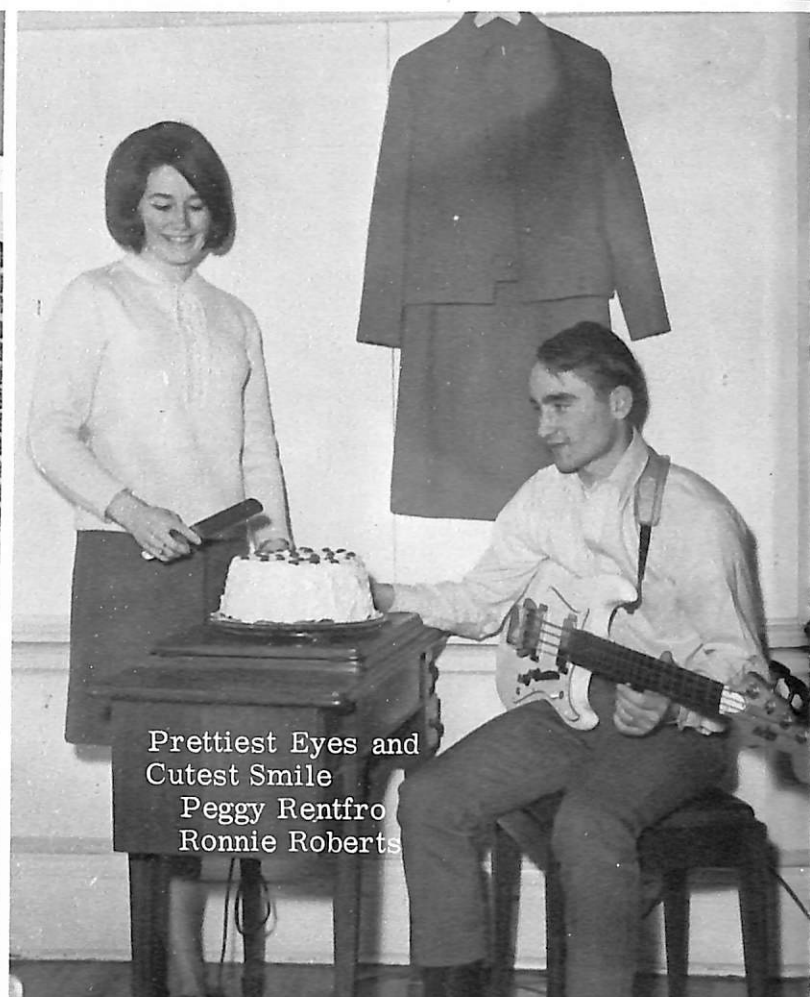

This year the Rambouillet staff chose new categories along with the old ones. The categories were most talented, most likely to succeed, cleverest, prettiest eyes and cutest smile, most gallant and most lady like, and cutest personality. The boy and girl who received the most votes from all the categories won the honor of being best all around.

Latin Club Shows Interest In Foreign Language

The successful use of a foreign language is valuable in our modern ever-changing world. Latin proves a most fascinating study of the ancient Romans. Latin also gives the students a background in English and many of our modern foreign languages. Latin is taught to those interested students who recognize the importance of knowing and using a foreign language. It enables them to prepare for the future.

Outstanding Scholars Make Up Honor Society

Many students have made outstanding achievement in scholarship and deserve recognition. The National Honor Society is an organization of outstanding students. Junior and Senior students are eligible for membership. Members are chosen on their leadership ability, character traits, personality, as well as their performance in their school work. These students must maintain these qualities. They are the students who are pushing ahead. They are preparing to be tomorrow's leaders.

Study Raises Scholastic Abilities

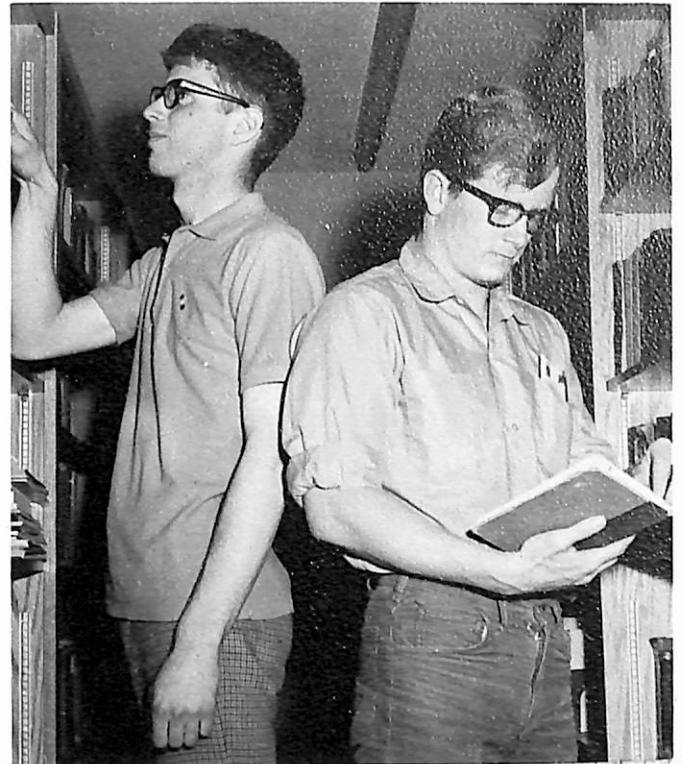

One of the first steps towards good scholarship is study. This means having a desire to learn and applying hard work for more learning. As you advance through your schooling, your teachers encourage and show you the proper way to study. One of the many ways that you may raise your scholastic abilities is by reading good and influential books. Good reading will put you on the road to higher learning.

Mr. Birch and Richard Teichert go over some Physics facts.

Debbie Meuleman and Randy Taylor catch a breath of fresh air while studying.

Mr. Lyle Wagstaff

Sophomore English Students Learn Their Language
 English is one of the more important subjects offered in high school. Under the capable teaching of Mr. Wagstaff, the students of CHS learn everything from adjectives to Zeus. They also learn to appreciate and understand many different types of literature, from Shakespeare to modern works.

The Sophomore class, above, is learning the problems involved in writing a good theme.

Library Science Provides Experience for Future Goals

Every year a group of student librarians gain valuable experience and ability in library science through the help of Mrs. Birch, the librarian.

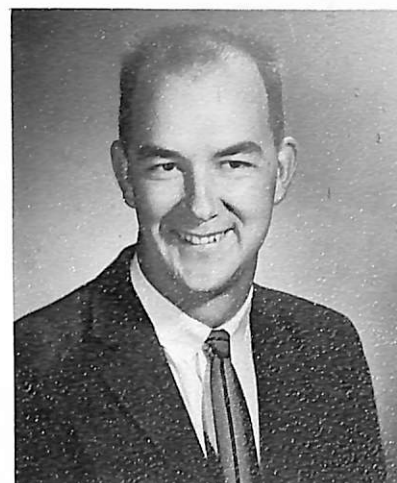

Mrs. Eleanora Birch

Future Scientists Learn How Life Ticks

The Freshman Biology class dissect crawfish, as shown above.

Mr. Lyle Forrest

Biology Class Learns Of Primitive Life
Through a year of hard study, the Freshman Class each year is taught more about plant and animal life by Mr. Forrest. Along with everlasting study (or so it seems), the dissection of animals, is also included in the course. Biology projects are, also required, all of which takes a great deal of time.

Chem. Class Learns Universe Make-up
Through Chemistry, the science student gains a different view on life and on the earth itself. Mr. Birch helps the young scientist to learn and understand more about this challenging life of ours.

Mr. Clarence Birch

The Chemistry class is composed mostly of Juniors. They learned to understand our world more with the help of experiments, as shown below.

Eighth grade girls enjoy sewing as one of their many activities.

Mrs. Clara Dayton

Girls Venture in Homemaking Under the direction of Mrs. Clara Dayton, Home Economics proved a fascinating study for those wise girls who are preparing for their future as wives, mothers, and women who know how to cook, sew, and get along with others.

Boys Venture in Mechanical Work Shop is an intriguing study for all interested students in the high school. Mr. Robert Dana has proved a skillful teacher of crafts and industrial arts. The students had a successful year completing various projects which have proved both beautiful and useful.

Mr. Robert Dana

Learning Skills and Crafts

Learning to weld is one of the many skills the eighth grade boys obtain in shop.

Garnett Nate, Miss Beck, Starlene Pope, and Irene Neilson (not shown) accomplish many things in office practice.

Miss Claudia Beck

Commercial Classes Learn Necessary Skills

Miss Beck, the commercial teacher, taught CHS students many skills which will prove helpful in the future. Typing, a skill useful to all students, received a high focus of attention. Other classes taught by Miss Beck were advanced typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping.

CHS Students Learn of Past, Modern, and Happening History
History, the story of mankind, fascinated the students at Cokeville High School. Mr. Robinson taught various subjects ranging from ancient history to modern politics in the American Government class.

American Government Class listens intently to a magazine article.

Mr. Terrel Robinson

One of the monthly projects of the FHA was giving the Kindergarten a Christmas party. During the party the girls played games with the youngsters. One of the most amusing games played and shown in the picture was "I have a Little Doggie and He won't Bite Me."

The Future Homemakers of America is an organization of, by, and for youth interested in furthering their ability in the field of Home Economics. The purpose of the Future Homemakers is to promote a growing appreciation of the joys and satisfactions of homemaking. The members want to emphasize the importance of worthy home membership and encourage democracy in home and community life. Some of the activities this year included a Christmas party for the Kindergarten, making valentines for the boys in Vietnam, Ma and Pa night, and a distribution of toys to the orphans in Torrington.

FTA, A Project Headstart for Teachers

The Future Teachers of America is a club organized to help give five high school students, whose goal in life is to become teachers, some experience in teaching. Advised by Mrs. Birch, these students had the opportunity to instruct the grade school children in their educational studies. Watching films and creating bulletin boards were some of the activities of the FTA during the year.

SEATED, LEFT TO RIGHT: Lynnette Perkins, Irene Neilson, Starlene Pope, Rodney Boehme, Margene Neilson, and Debbie Meuleman. STANDING: Mrs. Birch.

Grade School Students Learn Through Work and Play

Mr. Williams directs the grade school choir in the Christmas program.

Through work and play, the children grow and develop to become able young men and women. They have many good teachers who spend hour upon hour trying to further the children's learning.

The grade school also has a fine music program.

Third grade students develop dramatic abilities.

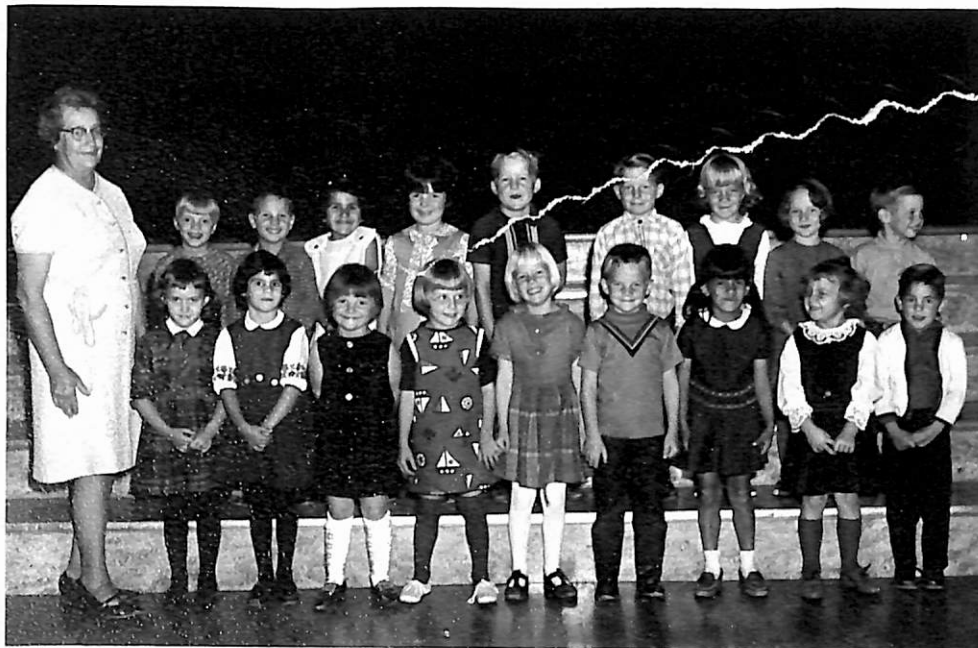

Children develop physically during recess.

Santa Claus is a big attraction at Christmas time.
