JUNIORS

Junior year is the hardest year of all, but for the class of 2013 it was a breeze. With their class advisers, Ms. Nate and Mr. Nate, and the dutiful class presidency, Ana Cook (President), Colter Linford (Vice President), and Bethaney Briggs, (Secretary) the class got things done. The summer before Junior year started, the Juniors sold concessions at the 24th of July Rodeo. At the Homecoming football and volleyball games, the class sold D.C. Burgers. Prom, a night of fun fun fun, well at least for the girls, was held on March 16th.

The Juniors also had to study up for the ACT which was given in April, for free. They took time in English and Math classes to prepare their brains for the tasking test.

Their favorite past times are playing lightening in the gym on break and teasing Tyrel about his head bandage.

The class of 2013 may be seen as the second class behind the Seniors, but their school pride and class unity made them stand taller than the rest. During Homecoming week they proudly won half of the dress up days and the Spirit Stick... twice!

Everyone can count on the Juniors to show up and support all the fund-raisers put on by the school. At most of the dances and activities, the Junior class had the best percentage of participants. The Juniors look forward to their D.C. Trip scheduled for the first week of Summer break.

Summary of The Sophomores

This was an outstanding and perfect year. We started off the year with almost the entire class involved in athletics. We were excited to have an awesome year and it was probably our best year in decorating for homecoming. We had some awesome projects for our classes that were above and beyond the expectations. We also had two students move here; Braxton Delgado and Diana Gonzalez. Alex Hammond and Jonathan Whipple moved away. We had some awesome intersections for Drivers Ed. (Mr. Thomas said they were the best he has ever seen.). We tried to be positive and just have fun. There were lots of memories made, more than we can mention on paper. I'm sure that all of our abs are stronger due to the laughing. We all love to laugh and mess around. We're not afraid to get into a little trouble. If we have some good classes it pushed us all to excel. You can ask Mr. Barnes, to make sure, but I think we have about ten model students in our class. A positive attitude and a whole handful of laughs makes for a great year..... SOPHOMORES.....

Then they had an assembly where they talked about the rules. After that they went out to the football field for some class and teacher competitions. The first activity was a relay race. The first contestant bear crawled a length, the second threw a football with their non-dominant hand, the third piggy-backed their partner to the other corner of the course where the fourth contestant had to eat a dry hot-dog and run to the start/finish line and chug a rootbeer. After the relay race the classes and teachers went head-to-head in tug of war competitions. Everyone had a good time!

The Lady Panthers had a successful season. They took 2nd at both the Regional and State Tournament. It was a challenging year because the team dealt with a lot of injuries and set backs. The girls came back though right when it mattered. They didn't let themselves get down. I.S.E. is the best way to describe the Panthers. It means Intensity, Speed, Effort. When the Panthers were more intense, hustled, and laid more out on the line they won. "I.S.E." was the yell in the huddles before practice, before games and at all time-outs. Coaches Teichert, Nate, and Moyes are probably the best coaches in the state. Their job is to produce championship caliber teams but to them it's more important to help the girls realize their potential in the real world. Great role models like these coaches can't be replaced easily. The girls want to thank their coaches for a great year. Even though the year didn't end like the team had dreamed, they were still successful and came out of the season better than when they started and that's a success!

Rebound, Panthers, Rebound!! This is what the crowd chants at Casper College.

Listen up team. Here's what we're going to do...

The Cokeville girls basketball team at state with their second place trophy. Good job girls! You did great!

Kaylie Moyes looks at number 34 from Snake River in a surprised way. I wonder what happened.

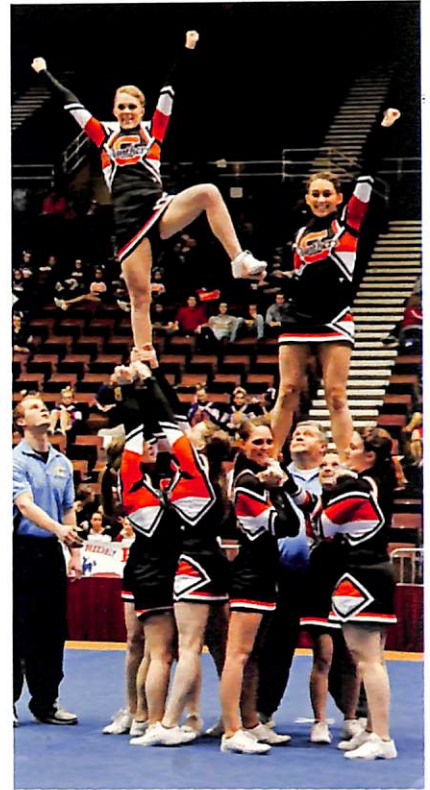

After the game both teams, instead of shaking hands, gave hugs to each other in appreciation of a good game.

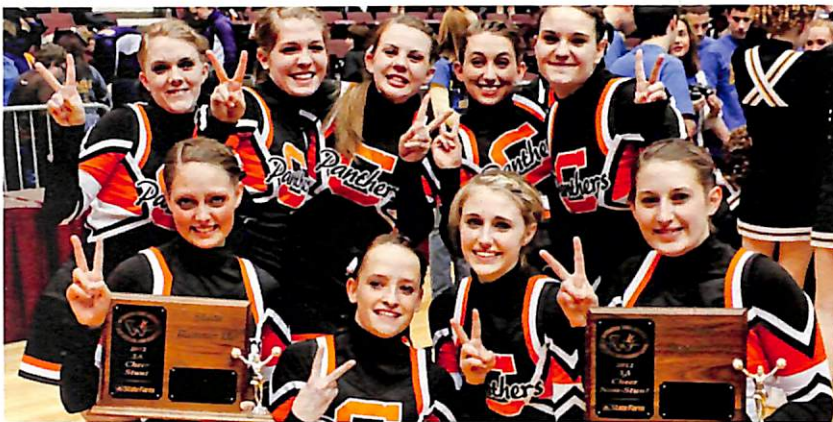

Winter Cheer

BOOM! BOOM! Fire power! Cokeville Panther cheerleaders show their stuff.

Panther cheerleaders final stunt of their 3A stunt routine.

The Cokeville cheer team was the only school that got TWO 3A second place trophies!

Jozlynn is grateful to be back in the arms of her college boyfriend.

Carolyn gazing into Jonathan's eyes, Ow Ow!

Justene is probably wishing she was a little taller to match the height of her date.

With a full dance floor, Prom was a success!

Freshmen students are intrigued by Josi's story telling skills.

Shelbi Viehweg and Emilie Gay being summoned to the dance floor by their mothers. Time to boogie!

The Promenade

The Juniors promenade dance was to "Why Dont We Just Dance?" by Josh Turner. Cody Linford, Tessa Teichert, and Bethaney Briggs helped choreograph the dance. They learned the dance quickly with the aid of an occasional rice crispy treat break. The dance performance went well on Junior Prom night.

Ashbee Petersen accepting her Royalty flowers with excitedly!

A goofy picture? Or is this what is considered normal? I'm thinking the later!

Tyrel Toomer placing the Queen's crown on Tessa Teichert's head.

FRESHMEN DINNER

This year, just like every year, the freshmen held their pre-prom dinner. The Freshmen Dinner is a tradition at Cokeville High School where the freshmen class serves some form of steak and chicken. It provides for a nice dining opportunity before the dance that helps couples save on the gas and time they would spend if they had to travel out of town to eat.

The Lock-in

That's the way to make good use of the volleyball net girls!

Everyone waiting to depart the school and head over to good ol' Evanston.

Mrs. Nate obviously disapproves of the joke that Tenor finds funny.

Elsy Weston and Macen Petersen racing on the water obstacle course. We all know that Elsy won this one!

This year the Student Council decided to try something different for the Lock-in. The students ended up going to the Evanston Rec. Center and spent the night swimming and playing with all the toys provided to us. This was a little different from the regular cosmic bowling, but all in all, it was a good time for students and teachers alike.

James Teichert and Jonathan Fiscus racing to the end of the water obstacle.

Nate Clark doesn't want his sister to climb away without him, so he gently pulls her back down.

The Lock-in

Colter Linford almost has it figured out.

Someone needs to teach these guys how this thing works.

You're not doing it right!

Elsy Weston successfully reaches the top of the mountain.

I'm pretty sure we have the coolest principal ever.

What were you doing at 3:30 A.M.?
Oh not much.... just playing basketball of course!!

Tyrel Toomer finally finishing the race! Not very graceful, but he got it done.

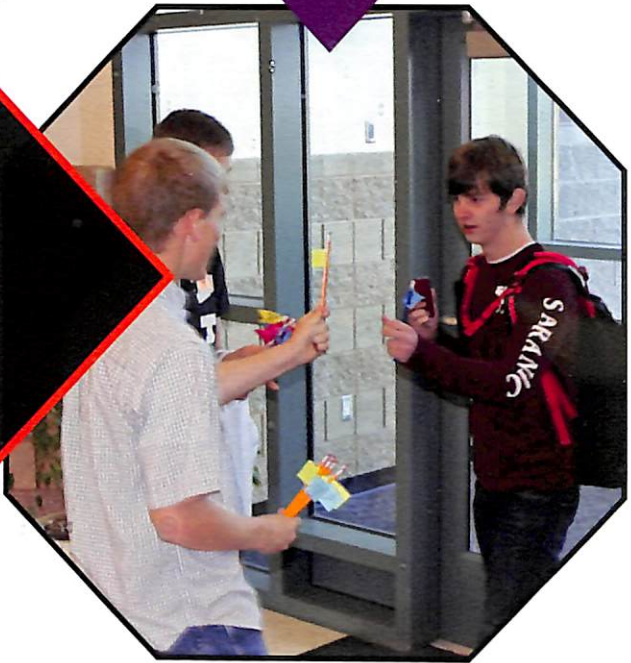

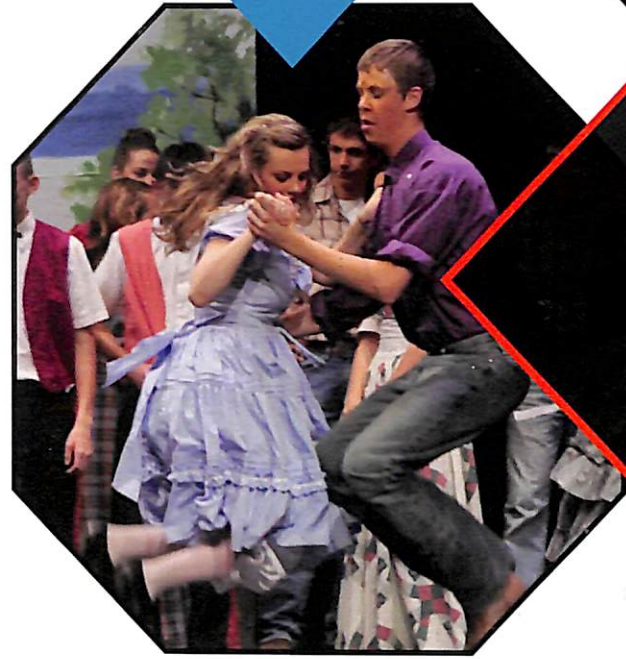

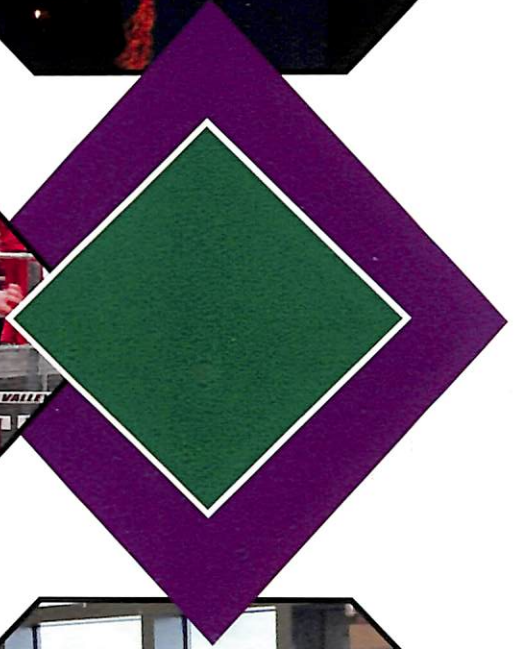

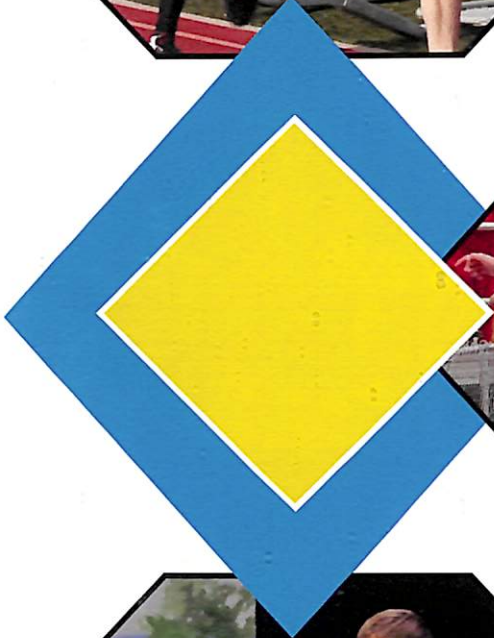

Nathan Cook enters the final part of the obstacle in good time.

SBO Elections

This year's Student Body Election races were very close. All of the candidates had a great week filled with interesting posters and skits and handouts. The campaign managers included: for Ana, Jonathan Fiscus; Tyrel, Nathan Cook; Thomas, Ellis Toomer; Brock, Brigham Teichert; Tessa, Jace Petersen; Colter, James Teichert; Raustin, Cody Nate; Nathan, Kennan Thompson. The speeches and skits and maybe most importantly, the food give away, were held on Thursday morning and the voting took place during lunch the same day. Everyone ran fantastic races and we're excited to see what next year's council members will bring to the table.

The Queen and the Silent King consoling the Prince after they rejected 12 princesses.

Dallin Hatch strums his guitar while Dylan Moody stares at him enviously.

The Silent King walking in front of the bed the true princess must sleep in.

The Jr. High Choir preformed "Once Upon a Mattress" for their musical this spring. "Once Upon a Mattress" is a unique twist from the story "The Princess and The Pea." During this musical, no one in the kingdom can be married until Prince Dauntless the Drab (Matthew Phillips) gets married. So, in eager to be wed, Sir Harry, (Ryan Jackman) sets off to the swamp to find a princess. He returns and brings with him a spunky girl named Winnifred the Woebegone (Liz Dayton). The queen (Brooklyn Teichert) is not convinced Winnifred is worthy of her son. The queen creates an unfair test, a pea under the mattress, and Winnifred has no idea. This musical had a wave of choreographed songs by turns of hilarious, romantic and melodic scenes. This riveting spin on the familiar classic of royal courtship provided for some side-splitting shenanigans.

The Pontipee Brothers are victorious in the fight!!

Dorcas (Morgan Hoffman) and Sarah (Katrina Orullian) decide to go MMA after a few malicious words are spoken.

CHS MUSICAL

The students involved in the musical this year had a blast! It was a little strange having it in the spring rather than in the fall, but the kids adjusted. Between night and full run-through practices the cast really got acquainted with each other and made lasting memories. Because the play was in the spring, there was more time to memorize lines but being students who think they're busy, most of the cast still waited until the last week to put on the finishing touches. Mrs. Petersen and Mrs. Cook were very patient and looked like they were having fun... for the most part. This year is probably their most favorite cast EVER!! "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers" was a real success!

Pep Club

This year was a fun year for Pep Club. Jan Moody the Pep Club adviser, Jozlynn Hagerman the President and Elsy Weston the secretary made sure everyone had a chance to earn their way to state football and state basketball. The Pep Club had to cheer at every game possible and work concessions during Homecoming.

BROADCASTING

Cokeville High School's broadcasting class has been responsible for airing the local channel, CHSTV, known for featuring the high school's sporting events, films, commercials, and other forms of entertaining media. Made up of a mix of the high school's finest, CHSTV has become renowned among the town. How long has this been going on, you may ask? Well... no one knows.

Why do they have papers by their feet?

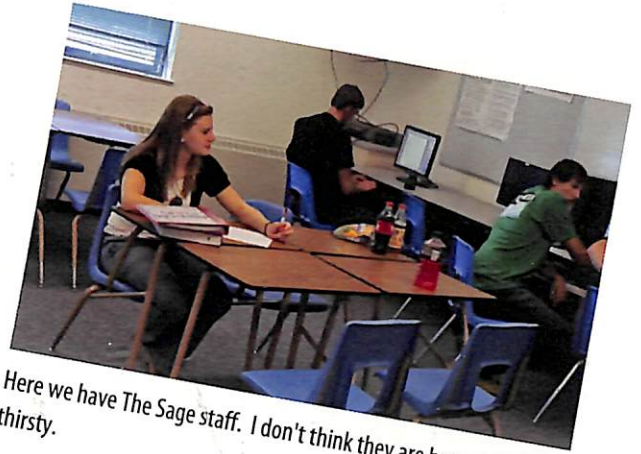

Bronson is clearly cheating by reading his script on set.

Bronson and Jordan seem confused as to where they are. Poor guys.

TJ working fervently on an article for The Sage.

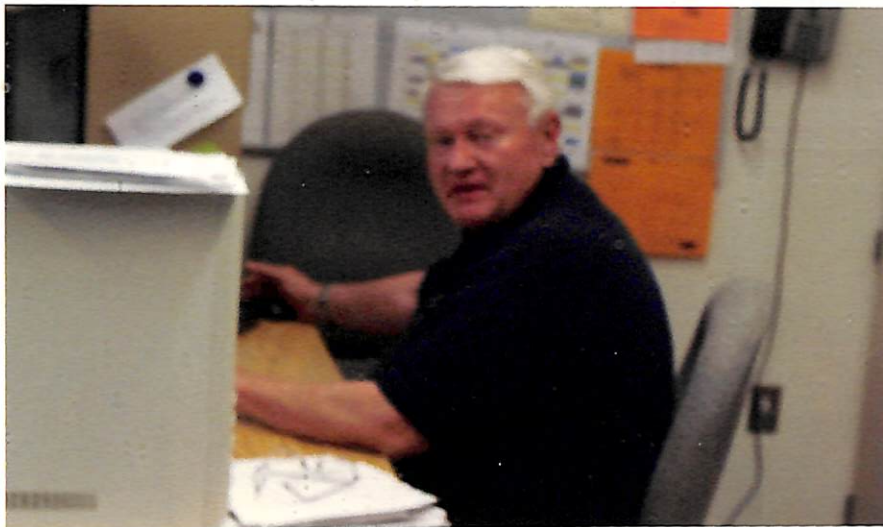

Here we have The Sage staff. I don't think they are hungry or thirsty.

THE SAGE

The Sage keeps Cokeville High School up to date on recent, exciting events. We print an issue every month, letting the students and teachers know what everyone is up to. We have seven members of the newspaper staff this year, this includes Dustin Davis, Emily Cornia, Morgann Weston, Shadlyn Feller, TJ Feller, And Bethaney Briggs.

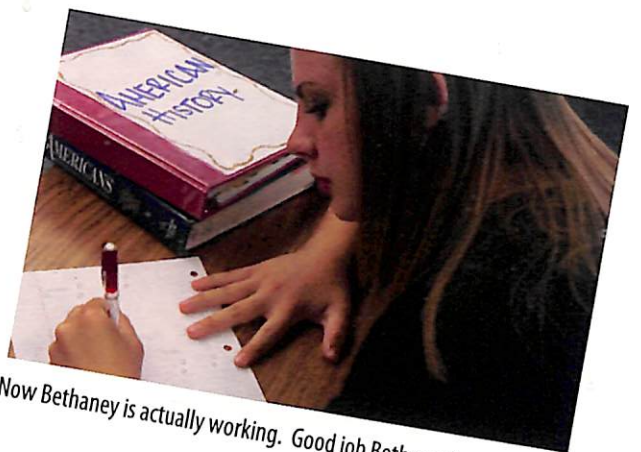

The end!

Mr. Beck takes charge of The Sage staff. He looks like he knows what's going on.

Do you think Mr. Beck knows that Dustin is playing games instead of working?

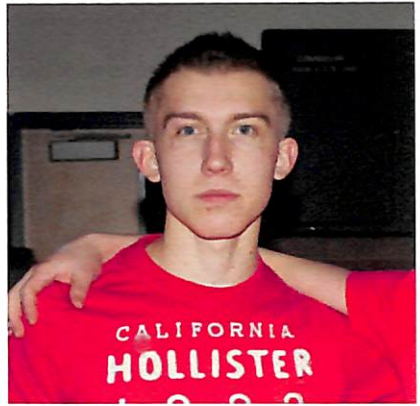

Now Bethaney is actually working. Good job Bethaney!

Yearbook Staff

This is Daniel's third and final year in Yearbook. Daniel was this year's Yearbook editor and spent most of his time telling people to get things done to no avail. He is probably the coolest kid in Yearbook, maybe even in the entire school, besides Jace Petersen that is. Daniel also made the mistake of letting the yearbook staff write their own write-ups. See the damage for yourself.

Jozlynn Hagerman spent her first and final year in yearbook listening to lots and lots of music, working on unyearbookish things, dreaming about summer time (literally), and creating phenomenal but procrastinated yearbook pages. All within an epic amount of time!

The fantastic student Katrina Orullian is in Yearbook for her first time. Katrina has made such an impact on the yearbook this year. While helping create the pages of the yearbook she also had time to sit around and either do nothing or read. Because of Katrina's hard work and dedication, the class voted that she would never have to go to her yearbook class after May 23rd. Without Katrina the yearbook would not have been possible. Thanks Katrina.

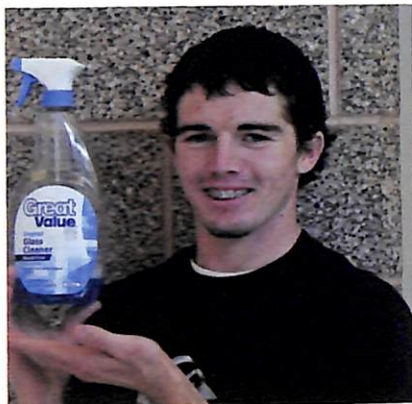

This was Colt's first year in Yearbook. He was in charge of a few student pages and the wrestling pages. Colt enjoyed spending most of his time bothering Daniel. When that wasn't enough to fill his time, he would watch wrestling highlights with Bronson.

Elsa (Elsy) Weston is enjoying her first and last year in Y-book. She is pretty sure she is the bomb.com at "yearbookin". Elsa enjoys long walks on the beach and making everyone better for life on the side. She also enjoys dancing to Britney Spears with Tessa and Ana. And finally she loves to fill her pages with herself.

This is Carolyn's first year in yearbook and she works her tail off to get her pages done! The end! Just kidding! Carolyn also loves watching the boys flex and flirting with anyone and everyone! What a life!

This is Tenor Teichert, a senior. Some people say he is a yearbook veteran since he has done Yearbook for three years. He loves this class because it helps him procrastinate a lot more. He often does physics homework and art when he isn't being perfectly obedient to Mr. Thompson. Oh and his pages are the ultimate best!!

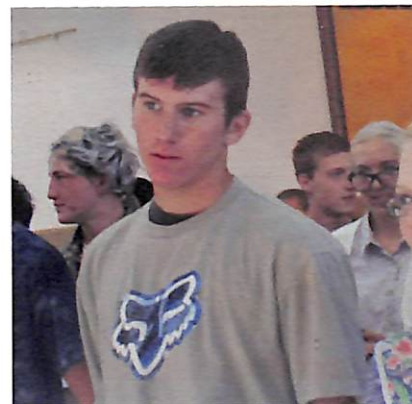

This is Thomas Tonga's first year in Yearbook. He did the high school football pages. After he finished his work he enjoyed the next one and a half semesters sleeping and dreaming about all kinds of girls. Thomas hopes that his mom doesn't read this, because then she will see what a true LADY SLAYER he really is!

Dustin Napier spent his first year in Yearbook reading books, dreading physics and at the last minute finally working on his pages so that Daniel could finish them for him.

Tessa Teichert is a darling. This is her first year in yearbook, but she's so good, it seems like she's been in it for forever. Her pages were done before time and they look professional. She did spend some time doing physics homework and having dance parties! The staff was made better because of her presence. BEST class EVER!

This was Ana Cook's first year in yearbook. Before she had surgery she would dance to Britney Spears with Tessa and Elsy during her spare yearbook time. Ana enjoyed letting Daniel re-do her hair or taking pictures of Daniel with all the sleeping students. Also, Ana likes carrots in hopes of being able to read in the dark.

This is Bronson Teichert's third year on the Yearbook staff. This is definitely one of his favorite classes because he likes making epic highlight videos (wrestling highlight). Hopefully the Yearbook class can carry on in the future without him.

This was Braxton Delgado's first year in Yearbook and he worked on the boy's basketball highlight. He also listened to music that "punched you in the face" with Tessa. Braxton enjoys finding new girlfriends and really likes to chase seniors. More power to you Braxton, more power to ya!

This is Kylie's first year in Yearbook, and Cokeville for that matter. Kylie saw the light and moved from Bear Lake to Panther country this year and decided to take the best class (Yearbook) while she was at it!

Mr. Thompson, our last and final member of the yearbook class has been in Yearbook for.... ummm... well... lets just say a lot of years. Mr. Thompson tells Daniel to yell at people so that he doesn't look like the bad guy. Mr. Thompson enjoys lifting weights with Daniel in his spare time as they rock out to "Girls Just Wanna Have Fun".
