Homecoming Awards

Windows

The window competition was a little bit different this year. Due to more strict fire safety regulations, students were unable to heavily decorate the doorways as had been done in years passed. The Juniors were able to overcome this obstacle and put together an impressive mural to ultimately win the competition.

Floats

The Class of 2015 also came away victorious in the float competition. Behind the brain power of Cole Payne, the Juniors showed some impressive ingenuity by implementing mechanical arms, aptly displaying the homecoming theme "Embrace the Challenge."

Lockers

This year there wasn't an official competition for lockers. Instead of decorating the whole locker, each class made a large banner that they placed above their locker area. This banner, created by the seventh grade, is a prime example of how banners are supposed to be made.

Jonathan Fiscus decides to stop and take a breath during the game.

Cody Nate shooting a jumper over three defenders during the Evanston game.

Season

The Cokeville boys basketball team had a pretty good year considering they lost at regionals. They went through adversity and handled it very well at the start of the year and also throughout. The boys finished off the conference with one loss to Little Snake River ending with a 7-1 record. Little Snake River came to the Panthers' home court after defeating the Panthers at home and were then defeated by the Panthers in Cokeville. Then a flip of a coin was made to see who would go into regionals as the first place seed. Cokeville lost the coin toss, so they traveled to Lander as the second place team taking on the Meeteetse Longhorns. They defeated the Longhorns which put the Panthers in the semi finals to play the Burlington Huskies team and were defeated. They then played the Encampment Tigers who defeated the Panthers with a last shot three point buzzer beater to win.

This year the Freshmen Dinner was very good, from the food prepared by the class, to the entertainment by Cheyenne Reed, Dylan Moody, and Matthew Phillips. This year the class did well, earning money towards their Washington, DC trip. In the words of their class president McKaela Weston, "Everything went smooth, and everyone left full of good food, mesmerized by the decoration and entertained by the pianists."

This year the junior class took all the extra decorations from previous years' proms and adding a little flare, made it their own and had a great prom.

This year's campaign week was a lot of fun. From mustaches, pop, and biscuits and gravy, to just regular paper handouts, candidates took one week to try and win votes from the student body. Thursday was the day when the speeches and skits were displayed, and probably the most important, food was given out. The candidates were allowed to bring treats in the morning to sway voters. After the food was all eaten, students filed into the auditorium to listen to the candidates speeches and watch the skits. The students then submitted their votes during lunch.

CHS Lock In 2014

A few of the Junior High boys cower in fear from Colter Viehweg's powerful swing.

For this year's annual Lock In, students and teachers went to the Evanston Recreation Center at 10 o'clock at night until 4 o'clock the following morning. All those with good grades were invited to come and everyone had a fun time participating in all activities available. Activities included: swimming, basketball, racquetball, volleyball, wallyball, xbox, a blow up obstacle course, and class competitions. Nathan Cook states "The Lock In was very fun, I had a great time." Some thoughts by Kennan Thompson, "I was never bored and they always had something for us to do!"

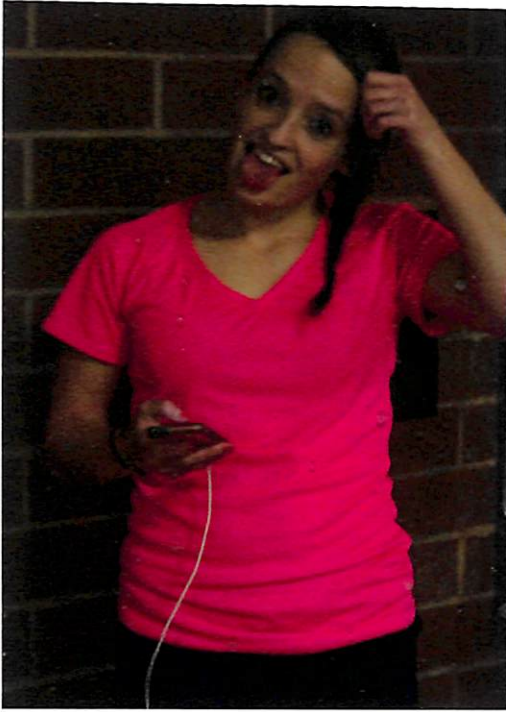

Mr Toomer, do you hit better with your eyes closed or something?

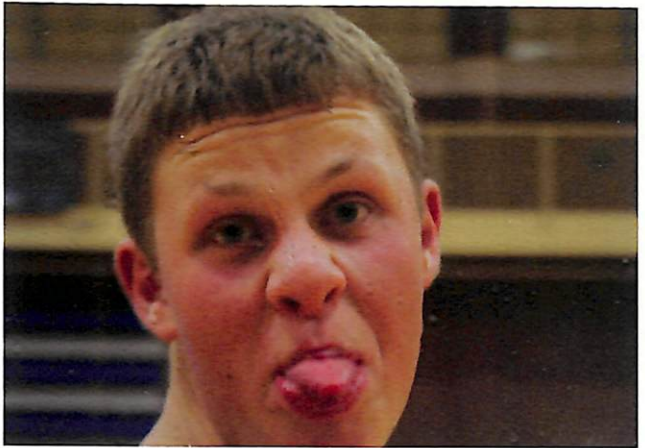

Jace Petersen, the slam dunk competition champion, rises high for a tomahawk slam.

Great job this year guys!

Following the 3200M race, the distance boys give a victory wave to their crowd in appreciation for their support.

K-9 Assembly

Mr. Linford volunteered to be chased by the drug dogs this year.

The two town dogs, Jed and Titus, were very impressive!

They were so powerful! So powerful that they could bring even Coach Linford down.

The students enjoyed getting out in the sun and learning about our town's dogs.

Bowen Larson volunteered to help with the demonstration. He had to handle some drugs and hide them in a jacket.

Jed, the dog, showed off his power and strength during the assembly. The students were in awe of his ability.

Student Banquet

Each month, six students were selected to be recognized for excelling in the classroom. A large banquet, catered by Cherrie Gay, was held at the end of the year to honor the accomplishments of these students. Parents, teachers, and students alike enjoyed the occasion.

Proud of Kaylie's accomplishments, Mrs. Moyes happily embraces her daughter.

A line of students eagerly dish up the amazing meal provided by Mrs. Gay.

Katelyn Petersen shows some apprehension as Kaycee Linford forks over a large piece of brisket.

Graduation 2014

Do you really love the lamp Jonathan Fiscus? Or are you just saying that because one was in the band room?

Braxton Delgado, your mom will be very proud you made television.

Captain Cokeville (Brock Teichert) gives CHS students some astounding advice to anyone who sees this picture.

The seniors gather together in a circle to give some motivational speeches before walking out for their graduation ceremony.

Graduation this year could not have gone any better. The seniors went out with a bang and a great graduation ceremony occurred May 28th, 2014. Jody Keetch and Mark Vierig addressed the class of 2014 and did a wonderful job and inspired not only the seniors, but those who listened to the talks. The choir participated by singing "Roar" by Katie Perry and the high school band played the theme music to "The Avengers" and both sounded great. Though it would be the last time the seniors would be seen in the school as students, their craziness, personalities, and leadership will live on through Cokeville High School. Good luck seniors!

Pep Club

This year the Pep Club enjoyed cheering on all of our teams from Fall Football and Volleyball, to Winter Basketball and Wrestling. We celebrated together in victory and were there to lift in defeat.

We handed out donuts and juice as the Panthers and Lady Panthers prepared for battle on Homecoming eve. We sponsored a fun Homecoming Dance as the culminating event of Homecoming week after the Lady Panthers defeated the Lady Rebels in Volleyball.

We braved winter road conditions, wondering if we would make it to the game at all, to cheer on the Panther Football team as they defeated the Tigers of Lusk at War Memorial Stadium in Laramie in the 1A Championship Football game.

We traveled to State Basketball in Casper to cheer on the Lady Panthers as they clawed their way to the title game against the Lady Doggers of Lingle Ft. Laramie.

We showed that Panther Pride is still alive!!

Sage

This year the sage consists of five members; Shaundra Warner, Hayden Harris, Shelbi and Colter Viehweg, and Emilie Gay. Seniors, Shaundra and Colter were part of the newspaper staff last year. Editors are Shaundra Warner and Hayden Harris. In previous years there has been an Editor-in-Chief and a Production Editor. This year, Hayden and Shaundra were Production Editors-in-Chief. The Sage puts elementary and high school information out to the students and the community. Senior Spotlight is the main feature of the Sage; it describes the interests of the senior students. "The students did a good job in learning how to do layout, take pictures, and work the computer program." —Mr. Steve Beck.

Cody Nate bringing out his "Walking Dead."

Broadcasting

Craziness was Broadcasting's middle name this year. Many different stories were extracted from various students throughout the high school. People were updated on the events at Cokeville as well as sightings of a pegasus, and random appearances of semi-famous people. The producers worked hard to get a good well-rounded broadcast out every month. The anchormen, Braxton Delgado and Jonathan Fiscus, had plenty of news to talk about each month because of the hard work of Cody Nate, Brock Teichert, Josi Clark, Shanaya Weston, Diana Gonzales, Nathan Cook, Jace Petersen, Kennan Thompson, James Teichert, Macen Petersen, and Kataya Kallstrom.

Jace Petersen looking good in his interview.

Brock Teichert and Braxton Delgado cry with laughter after they spotted the pegasus.

Yearbook Staff

Cody Nate

Cody Nate joined the Yearbook staff after 3 years of his high school career. He is very good at procrastinating and still getting his pages done on time. He's very good at staring at the wall and wasting time and sleeping without getting caught.

Brock Teichert

Brock Teichert, finally by his senior year, wised up and took Yearbook. He has enjoyed the interviewing of humans and Pegasus'. He says the highlight of the year was the day he rode "Our Pegasus". His best words of advice are to "Stay classy and always smile!"

Shanaya Weston

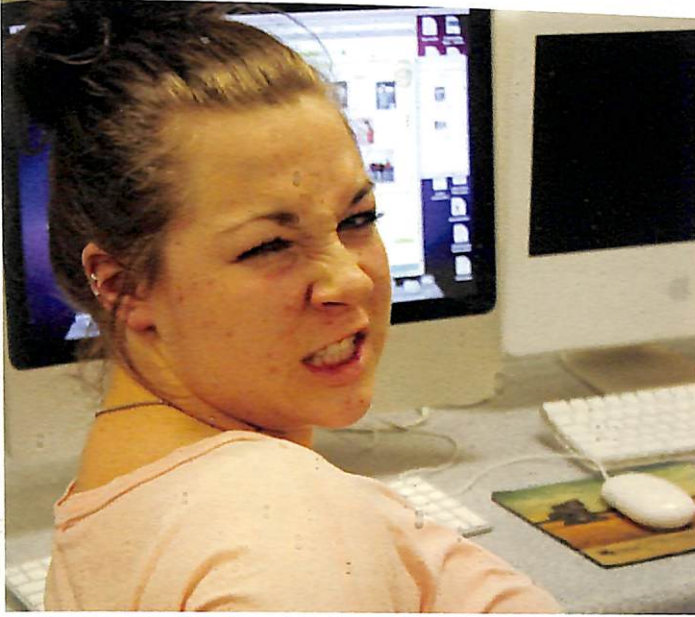

This is her first and only year of yearbook. She spent a lot of time reading/doing homework for other classes and talking with Kataya and Diana. She always had her yearbook pages done on time. She has fun teasing and scaring her friends.

Jonathan Fiscus

Jonathan Fiscus was the bomb during Yearbook. After he did everyone else's work he worked on his own projects. He walks on sunny beaches and loves to play the guitar. And unlike popular belief, he in fact "LOVES TO PARTY!!!!"

Josi Clark

Josi is the star student. She has successfully taken (and passed) every class Mr. Thompson offers, so she is the favorite. She just comes into class everyday with such a happy, smiling attitude and gets right to work. She completed 10 student pages, and the volleyball highlight, as well as the Senior slideshow.

Diana Gonzalez

Diana really enjoyed her first and last year of Yearbook. She had fun and got her pages in on time. Diana likes being outside and loves listening to music. She also enjoys being with family and friends. Even though Diana was on the yearbook staff, she still hates having her picture taken.

Braxton Delgado

This was Braxton's second year in Yearbook. Basically as editor, he ruled the classroom and didn't let anyone get away with anything...psh-Who are we kidding? Braxton sat around, ruined Josi's broadcast with Brock, showed off his silky smooth brown skin, and worked on the football highlight video all at the same time. Now THAT'S multi-tasking...

James Teichert

James Teichert was the most critical person on this years Yearbook staff. By enforcing Braxton's orders, James ensured the Yearbook was completed. Pshhh, James helped Braxton "multi-task."

Nathan Cook

Nathan Cook enjoyed bringing food everyday to class and eating to his heart's content. His one life goal is to become FAT and HAPPY.

Jace Petersen

Jace enjoys working his tail off in Yearbook and getting everything done on time. In his free time, he enjoys eating food and writing articles for the New York Times. Jace hopes to one day learn how to be a "good" procrastinator.

Macen Petersen

My name is Macen Petersen and I like lots of great things. I especially like to listen to music and eat lots of really great food!! Sometimes I like to lay pennies out with heads up so people can be as lucky as me one day. I also like playing sports and singing in the shower. I have enjoyed helping work on the yearbook this year.

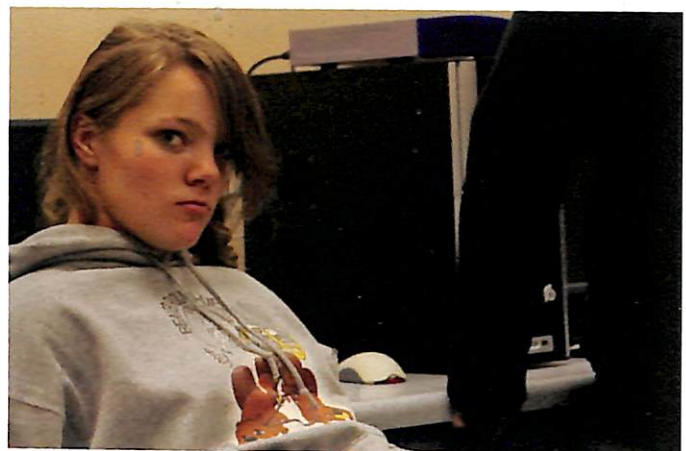

Kennan Thompson

Kennan was by far the hardest worker in this year's Yearbook class. He enjoyed coming up with brilliant ideas for highlight videos and listening to Journey, Huey Lewis, and ELO. This is his first year in yearbook and he is excited to do it again next year.

Kataya Kallstrom

Kataya is in her first year of Yearbook. As you can see by her expression, she is obviously plotting to take over the class. (Her life long ambition according to Mr. T.)

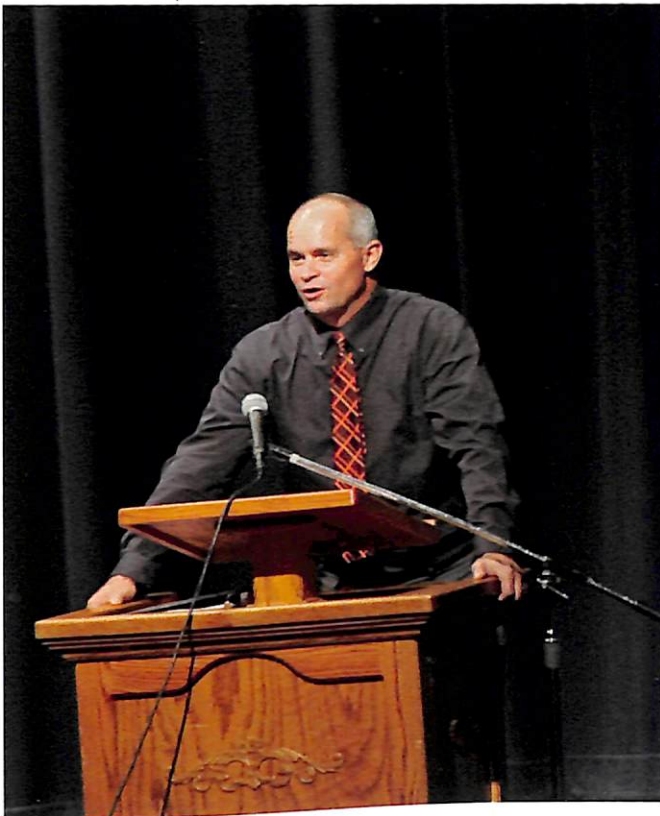

Administration and Special Ed.

Mr. Toomer shows off his moves as he performs a traditional Oompa Loompa dance.

Mrs. Pope, always with a smile, gets ready to answer yet another question.

Principal Harris inspires the student body to excel during the Back to School assembly.

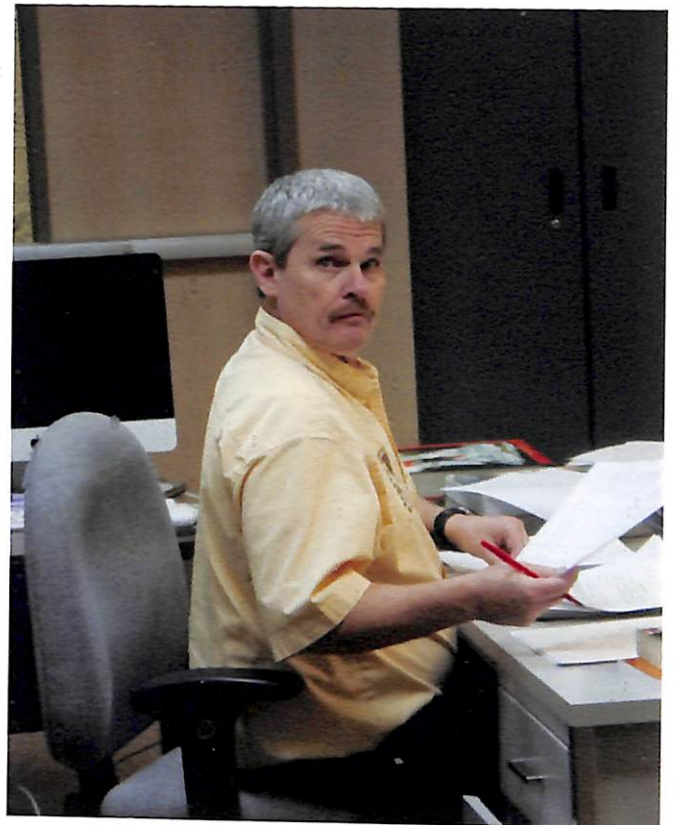

Math Department

Mr. Barnes cleans his plates after a student granted him a meal in exchange for a better grade. It didn't work.

Mr. Fiscus is in his element, watching students work as he looks extremely cool.

Mr. Thompson is shocked to have been caught in the act of manipulating a student's grade.

English and History

Mr. Thomas, always suspicious, is certain he is about to be pranked.

English teacher, Mr. Linford, cheerfully sports his black eye.

Mr. Beck is once again hard at work as he shows all the rookies how teaching is really done.

Science

Mr. Anderson, along with Nate Clark and Shaundra Warner, listen intently as the farrier tells them the importance of keeping horses' feet maintained.

Relaxing seems to be a common theme with the science teachers as here, Mr. Dayton gives a thumbs up after his daydream of football is interrupted.

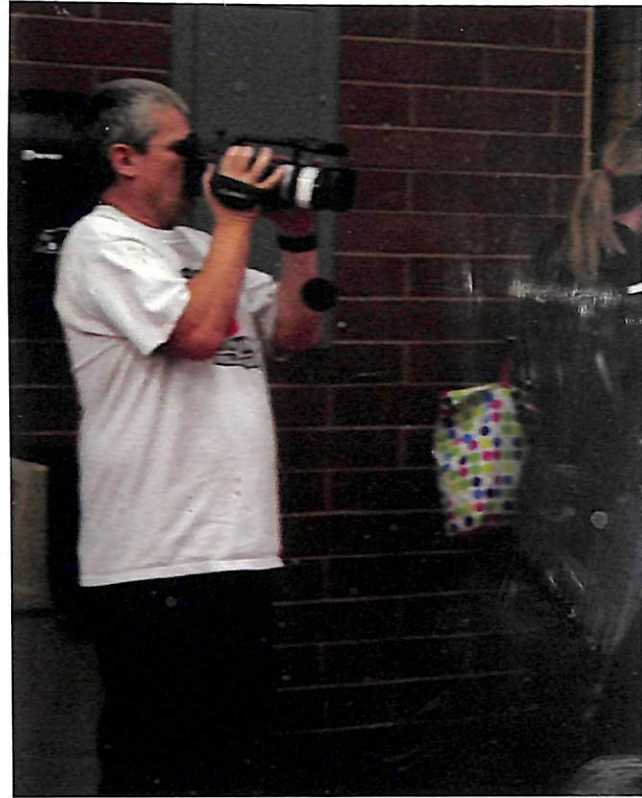

Mr. Anderson takes a break at the Lock In after multiple games of basketball.

Vocation

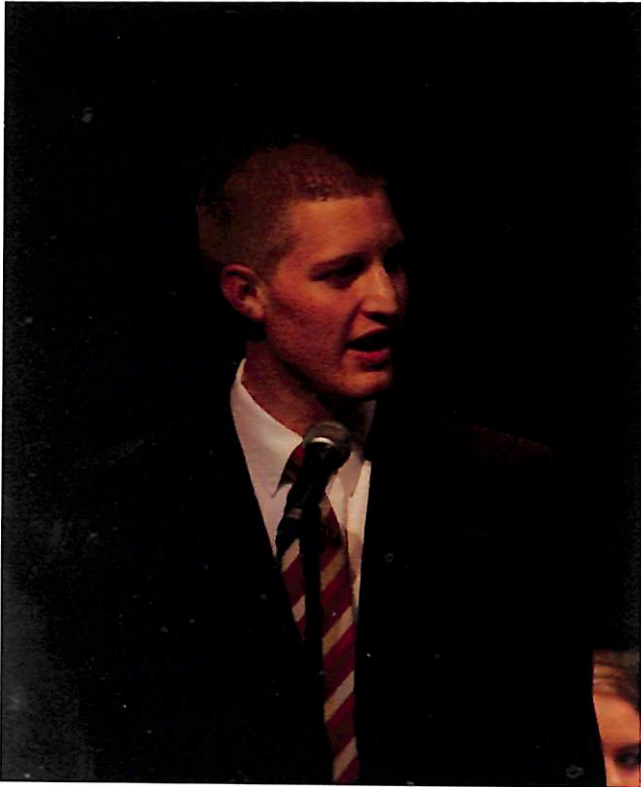

Although Ms. Nate is the champion at hiding from the camera, even she gets caught once in a while, and she shows her surprise here.

As usual, Mr. Thompson is left to do all the work as his Broadcasting students abandon him during the Lock In.

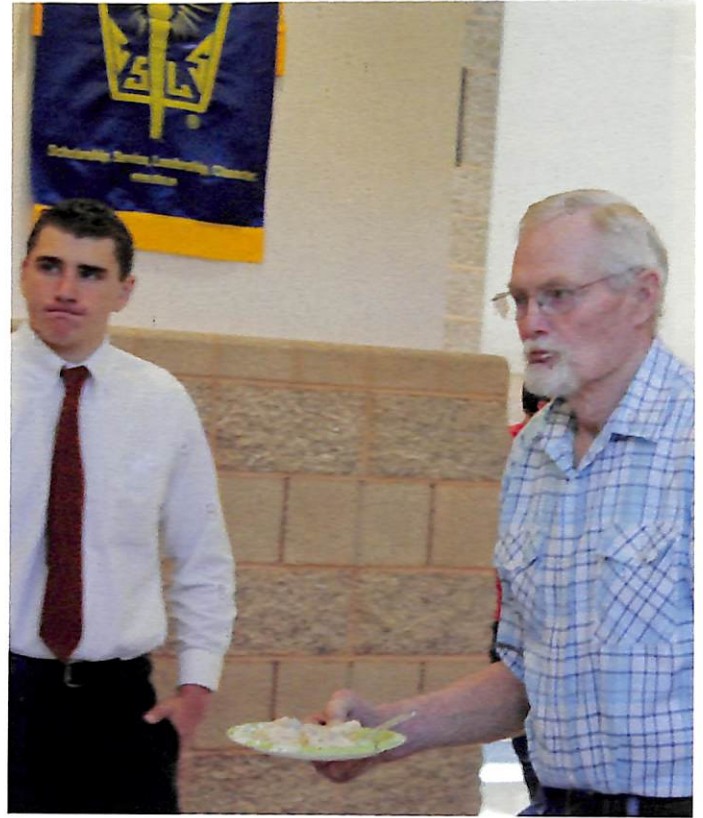

Shop teacher Mr. Helm shuts the drawer to his desk as he rises to meet the demands of yet another student.

Music and Art

Mr. King introduces the high school band during the Pops Concert. Mr. King's band, choir, and celebration came back from Festival with two "Excellent" groups and one "Superior" group.

Band and choir director Mr. King shows all the students how it's done...on a real hoop.

Raustin Grandy turns a blind eye as Mr. Nate comes back for his fourth plate of food during campaign week.

Cooks

Mrs. Cornia shows her intense concentration while serving lunch to the junior high.
