We'll

1. The one class you looked forward to each day with eager expectation.
2. The date that made that school dance so special.
3. The confusion that accompanied the final election campaigning.
4. The help and encouragement teachers have given.
5. Christmas with its merry-go-round of activities.
6. Cramming late into the night for that final exam.
7. The spontaneous explosion of cheers as Champs carried the trophy off the floor.
8. The spirit of loyalty as you watched the Pep Club and Band.
9. The annual epidemic of Spring Fever.
10. The clubs with their lively parties and interminable dues.
11. That precious hour that saved us from starvation.
12. The friendly "Hi's" and that special smile in the halls between classes.
13. The "A" you anticipated, but never got.
And most of all, the lasting friendships that have made these days so complete.

Star Valley High School
Afton, Wyoming

Sparkling Loleta Carter was voted Yearbook Queen by the Student body. In the Senior Class she was chosen "Most Popular" along with many other attributes during her last four years in High School.

Ambitious Jerald Tolman was named Yearbook King and was also Editor of the Yearbook. His artistic talent has lent a helping hand in Opera scenery his four years of High School.

Student Council

Decorating the Christmas Tree is one of the highlights of the Student Council year. This is done every year to promote Christmas spirit in the halls of S.V.H.S.

STUDENT COUNCIL MEMBERS—Row One, Left to Right: Dee Jensen, Vice-President; Linda Miller, Cheerleader; Jean Rainey, Cheerleader; Dahl Gardner, Music Representative; John Winters, Senior President; Jerald C. Tolman, Yearbook Editor; Al Hale, Athletic Representative; Richard Osmond, Sophomore President; Lynn Clark, Freshman President. Standing: Robert Wray, Student body President; Paul Stock, Adviser; Loo Hinck, Junior President.

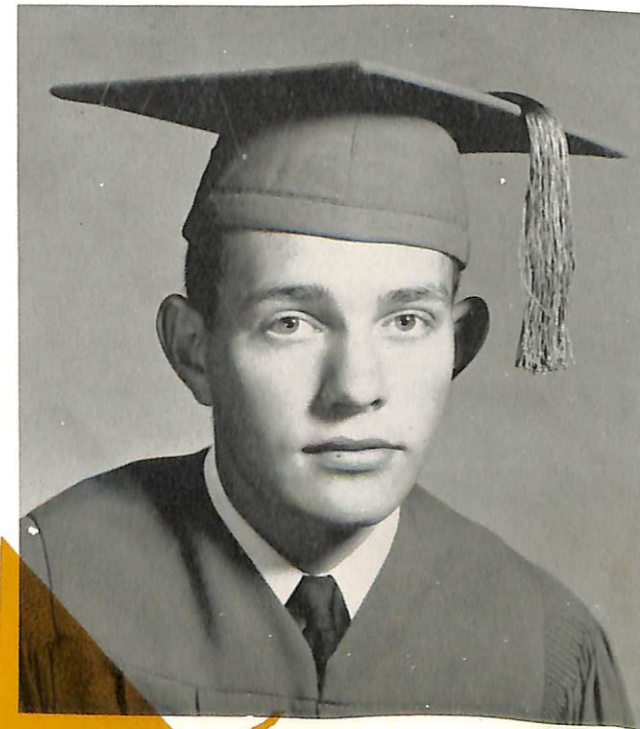

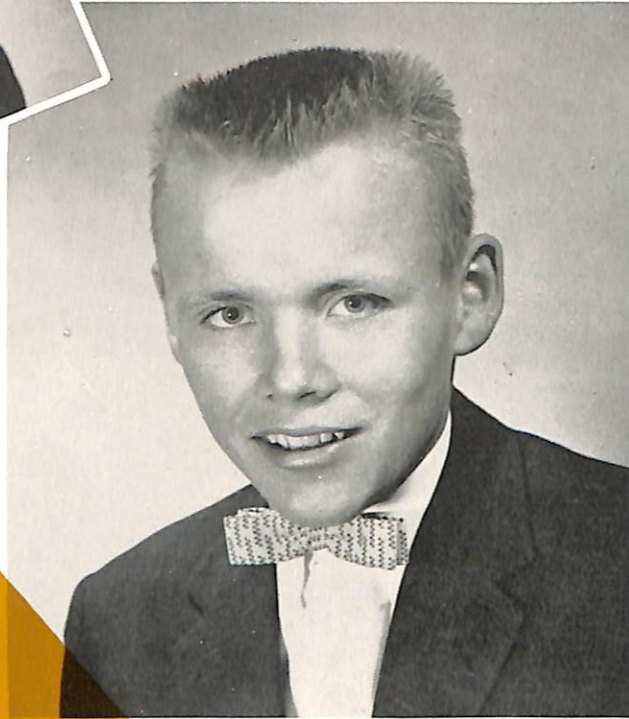

The Student Council was responsible for the success of the Homecoming Parade and the day's festivities. They also sponsored two movies and introduced a new program for the betterment of school conduct in the assemblies. Something else new, this year, was a locker inspection to improve the condition of the lockers. They presented a box of candy to the person with the cleanest and neatest locker.

Senior Superlatives

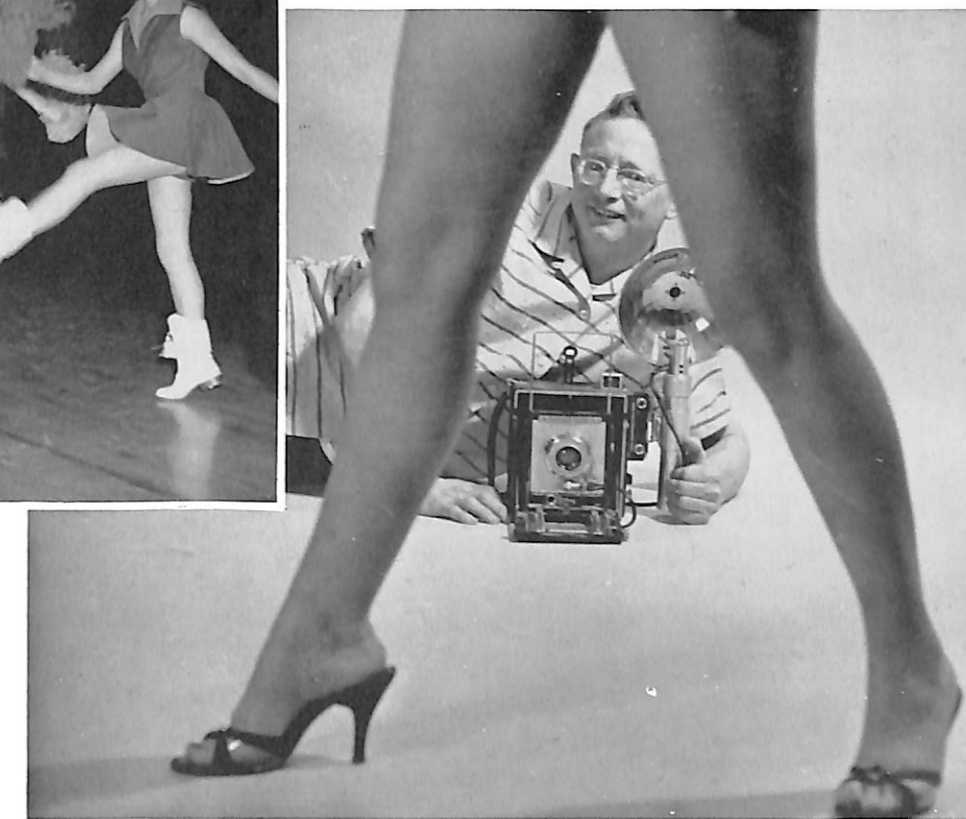

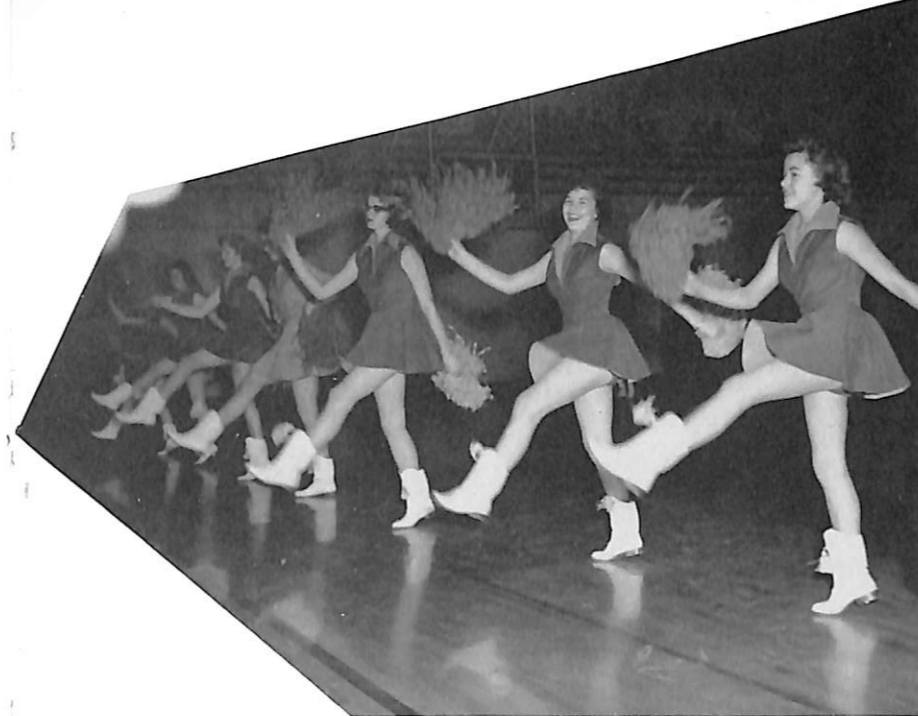

Searching for new ideas are the members of the yearbook staff: Dahl Gardner, Carolyn Worthen, Jerald Tolman, Judy Hyde, Laura Lee Holanson, Linda Miller, Bonnie Medus, and Loleta Carter.

Sta-Va-Hi Staff

The yearbook staff sponsored several dances, sold pens and ads in order to make money. They worked hard to make this book a success and to make it something "We'll Always Remember."

(The editor and Mr. Grasse? ?)

Phil Grosjean was our yearbook photographer. He did an expert job covering all the school events and activities with pictures. Here are some of the action shots taken during the exciting ball games this year. He helped us develop our yearbook into the fine book that it is.

When the Sta-Va-Hi Staff started selling pens of the school colors, Mr. Grasse, Adviser; and Jerald Tolman, Editor; were first in line to buy one from Loleta Carter, Business Manager.

Royalty- The Student Body's Choice

We'll always remember the Royalty of S.V.H.S. Their cheerful smiles and pleasing personalities helped to make our dances and other important activities a big success. Chosen to reign over various activities throughout the year by popular vote of their classmates, these Kings and Queens have been very active in academic and extra-curricular activities.

Virden Harrison, President of the F.F.A., presented the F.F.A. Sno Ball Queen, Aloma Nelson, with a blue silk jacket at their annual Sno Ball dance.

Chosen to reign over the Sweetheart's Ball were: King of Hearts, Cordell Luthi; and Queen of Hearts, Annette Haderlie. Attendants to them were Bob Wilkes, and Judy Wolfley.

Chosen by the Student body from the combined yearbook and paper staffs was Connie Linford, Inklinger's Queen. Judy Hyde and Carolyn Worthen were her attendants. The dance that was scheduled was postponed because of other activities but the queens were crowned in the Faculty assembly.

Lovely Fayone Coates was chosen to reign over the Homecoming Activities for 1957-58. Fayone has been very active in her four years of High School.

Class Personalities

Connie Linford and John Winters have been very active in Seminary, Drama, and Student body Offices throughout their High School years.

Eldona Roberts and Marion Walker have held class offices and will be leading the Seniors to their many achievements next year.

Louise Call and Lynn Clark have gained many friends and honors with their pleasing personalities and winning ways.

Through the help of Nona Nelson and Richard Osmond the Sophomore Class has been a success this year.

Activities- For Growth And Development

To make the school year complete we participated in many extra-curricular activities. Some of the activities enjoyed by the students were: Class Assemblies, Lyceums, Dances, Shows, Plays, and the Opera.

Caught in the action of entertaining the crowd at the Mad Hatters Ball were Vern Chadwick and Donn Wooden.

Brenda Robinson and Donald Wood are showing everyone how to "Cut a Rug."

Juel Haderlie is showing Zan Flygare the latest steps he learned while away at college.

Winners of the Sadie Hawkins Dance were Diane Draney, third prize; Linda Miller, second prize; and Jerald Tolman, first prize.

Dances

The Harvest Ball proved to be very successful. We can tell Mr. and Mrs. Tippetts, John Winters, and Sally Ziegler are really enjoying themselves.

Homecoming Activities

The smiling faces of Dee Jensen, Jerald Tolman, Dahl Gardner, and Robert Wray indicate that they are enjoying their work on the Student Council float.

Vividly dressed Carol McNiven rode the Pep Stars float, which received second prize.

The Sophomore float entitled "Lick 'em Braves" won third prize. Douglas Roos and Sally Ziegler.

The mighty Seniors again captured first prize. Darlea Warren, Loleta Carter, Kathy Roberts.

Everyone joined in burning the "Green River Wolf" to bring us good luck.

The Snake Line.

Seated, Left to Right: Connie Linford, Sharon Larsen, Jay Hunsaker, Mrs. Max Coray, Director. First Row: Dahl Gardner, Lee Wirthlin, John Winters, Vern Gardner, John Robinson, B. Delos Gardner, O. J. Holdaway, James E. Grasse, Nord Wilkes, Stayner Call, Gale Haderlie, Paul Stock, Royal Jensen, Don Hazard, Doran Wilkes, Orson Treloar. On Stairs: Kent Kellersberger, O. D. Gardner, Bob Wilkes, Jerry Campbell, Reldon White, Bonnie Medus, Donn Wooden.

Plays

In this scene we find Abby and Martha stopping their nephew, Mortimer, from drinking poisoned wine intended for their visitor, Mr. Gibbs.

Here, Abby is entertaining the Rev. Dr. Harper at tea while her nephew, Teddy, stands near by.

The Thespian Club presented the play "Arsenic and Old Lace" November 18, 1957. The play was about two warm-hearted old ladies who were always doing nice things for other people like poisoning them to keep them from being lonely. Their nephew, Teddy, thought he was President Roosevelt, and their other nephew, Mortimer, was a dramatic critic. It was a very thrilling mystery comedy that kept you in suspense most of the time. Also this year the Thespian Club presented the "Lute Song." It was done in traditional Japanese Theater style.

Everyone agreed that the opera was very outstanding this year. It was presented in four performances and fine crowds attended each one. Neil Tippets, Lucile Barrow, and Carla Coray were the directors of this never-to-be-forgotten event.

Assemblies

In the Senior Assembly John Winters, Jean Rainey, Julia Gardner, Orson Treloar, and Jerry Campbell portrayed the characters in the "Amos and Andy Music Hall."

Laron Olsen, Donna Grasse, and Duane Perry did a terrific job in pantomiming "Boll Weevil" in the Freshman Assembly.

Playing the accordion for the Junior Assembly is Annette Haderlie impersonating Myron Floren of the "Lawrence Welk Show."

The Future Homemakers of America are displaying the metal letters that are to be placed on the front of the High School Building. It is under the direction of Kathleen Burton, the adviser.

During the drive of the March of Dimes, Col. Larson presented a Lyceum showing his comeback after having 85% of his body completely paralyzed with polio. Here we see Dennis Daugherty and Jeffrey Heap learning how to spin a rope.

The accomplished artist, Alexander Lewis, assisted by the very capable Charlene, presented a National Assembly Program of long to be remembered baffling effects in magic.

A Teen Age Club was the scene of the Sophomore Assembly. Entertaining the teenagers are Julie Rose Bagley and Betty Wirthlin doing the latest mambo.

THE CALYPSOETTES—Loleta Carter, Gayle Larson, and Judy Wolfley are entertaining the Student body as talent on the Senior Assembly. They are accompanied by Bob Wilkes and Jerry McKim playing the Bongo Drums.

Our school lunch room provides well-balanced and nutritious meals. This is the half hour that saves everyone from starvation. Every day the cooks prepare meals for the largest majority of the school.

This is a typical day in the halls of S.V.H.S., everyone chatting, laughing, and discussing their problems.

We Learn By Working Together

Work is pleasure when we are working together. This year the organizations of S.V.H.S. have striven not only for fun but have also achieved a true goal of co-operation with their leaders and fellow schoolmates.

Our school colors and "Old Glory" are carried by Lynda Beth Hurd, Anna Vee Garrett, Judy Hyde, and Oleta White.

Our prancing majorette, Julia Gardner, has done a terrific job the last four years as twirler and majorette.

The Industrial Arts Club was something new this year. It was a combination of high school and junior high school students. In this club they learned to work with their hands as well as their minds.

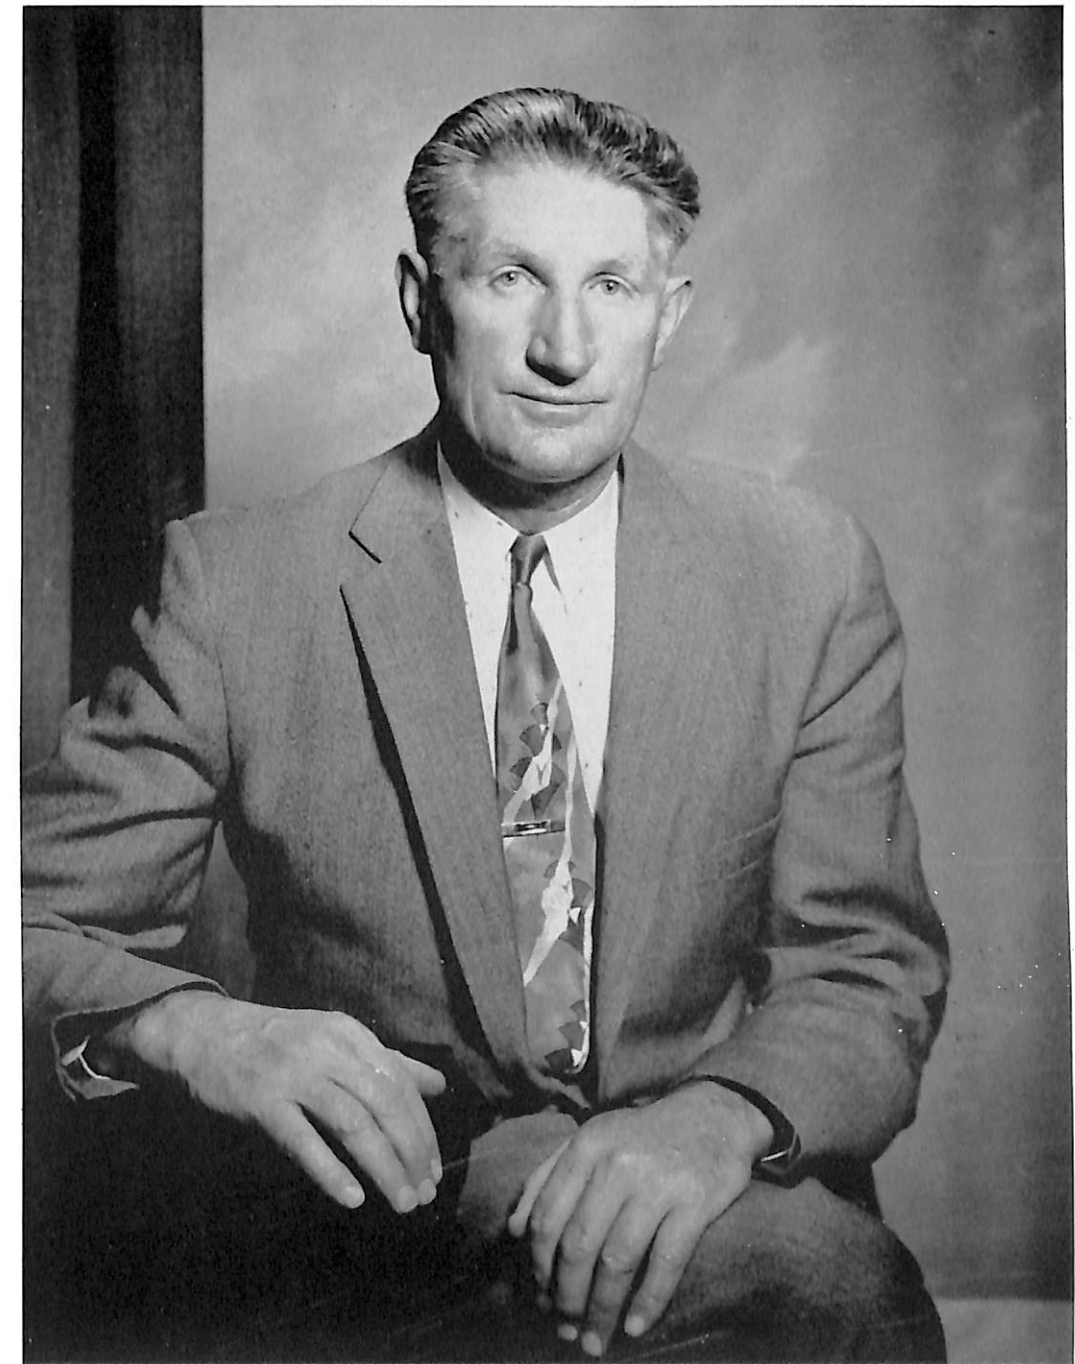

We must all be aware of the advantages and necessity of having a good education in this modern world. Our advancements and success depends on our leaders. May we be wise and diligent in our preparation for the future. Leadership, itself, seems to be talent in the full sense that art or writing are special abilities given to some people.

Education Is Our Investment In The Future

In the midst of winter we find Vern Chadwick, Gayle Warren, Gwen Anderson, and Paul Stauffer still enjoying the snow.

The things remembered the most are those which we have done with our classmates. We can never forget the fun and hardships we've had during the past year. The expert advice given by our advisers helped to strengthen our accomplishments.

As we've looked back on our last four years of High School, none will be more worth remembering than our senior year and all of its activities such as painting and lighting the star, the assembly, the Senior Hop, and the Senior Sneak. We have filled our schedules with thoughts of graduation and all of the activities associated with it. We sponsored the dance "Stardust" after the first home basketball game to celebrate our victory. The Senior's float won first prize in the Homecoming Parade with "It's in the Box" as the theme. May we always remember our S.V.H.S. and all that it represents.

Three years roaming the halls of old S.V.H.S. has increased our knowledge to venture into the world. Our biggest feat this year was the Junior Prom. We chose our class rings with the authentic Indian Head in the center. The Ed Sullivan Show was our assembly and was very successful.

Getting into the swing of things we found the Sophomores planning the Senior Commencement dance, also this year we had our assembly which held the student body spellbound. We could find our way around the halls without the help of the upper-classmen.
